Foxfield School is committed to providing a safe, supportive, and stimulating environment where our pupils can thrive, develop essential life skills, and prepare for adulthood. We believe that a strong partnership between school and home is vital to supporting our pupils' unique journeys.

Our core values guide everything we do: LEARN—Life skills, Enjoyment, Achievement, Respect, and New experiences.

The School's Agreement

We will:

• Provide a safe, nurturing, and fully accessible environment tailored to meet the sensory, physical, and medical needs of your child.

• Deliver a highly differentiated curriculum focusing on communication, independence, life skills, and personal development.

• Support your child's emotional well-being through bespoke sensory and reflex integration strategies and trauma-sensitive practices.

• Work collaboratively as a multi-disciplinary team, combining the expertise of specialist teachers, teaching assistants, nurses, and therapists.

• Maintain open and regular communication through Class Dojo and share milestones via the Evidence for Learning platform.

• Review and update Personal Learning Goals (PLGs) tri-annually and hold formal annual reviews of your child's Education, Health, and Care Plan (EHCP).

• Treat your child, family, and carers with utmost dignity and respect at all times.

The Parents' / Carers' Agreement

I / We will:

• Treat all school staff, other parents and pupils with respect and dignity, ensuring that all interactions, communication, and correspondence are constructive and polite.

• Ensure regular attendance, notifying the school immediately on the first day of any absence.

• Actively engage with the school's communication tools, regularly checking Class Dojo, looking at updates on Evidence for Learning, and attending parent-teacher meetings.

• Keep the school informed of any changing health, medical, dietary, allergy, emotional, or sensory needs, ensuring that emergency contact details and medication records remain fully up to date.

• Attend scheduled progress reviews, EHCP annual reviews, and parent consultation meetings whenever possible.

• Work in partnership with the multi-agency teams involved in my child's care and education.

• Provide appropriate clothing and equipment required for school activities, including sensory items, specialised medical aids, and weather-appropriate outdoor gear.

• Provide a complete set of spare clothes (where appropriate) to support our child's specific incontinence and personal care needs. We understand that having a reliable change of clothing is essential to maintaining our child's comfort, dignity, and growing independence throughout the school day.

• Understand that sending personal electronic devices (such as tablets or phones) to school to support our child’s sensory or emotional regulation needs is strictly at parental discretion. We acknowledge that the school accepts no liability or financial responsibility for any loss, damage, or breakage of these personal devices while on school premises or transport (for more information please see our mobile phone policy).

Declaration of Agreement

Please note that physical signatures are not required for this document. By permitting your child to attend Foxfield School, you are automatically declaring that you agree to, accept, and adhere to the statements, expectations, and responsibilities outlined in this Home-School Agreement.
